

ABSTRACT

An object is to provide a hot plate making it possible to heat an object to be heated uniformly, and the hot plate of the present invention is characterized in that a resistance element having a thickness dispersion of $\pm 3 \mu\text{m}$ or less is formed on an insulating substrate.